WORK SAFE BC

WorkSafeBC is proud to be affiliated with B.C. Youth Week as a sponsor. We support the promotion of the positive contribution of work to the community, and to workplaces in British Columbia. Being on the B.C. Youth Week committee gives us an opportunity to share in outreach to youth and to hear what matters to them, and it helps give us insight into the voices and opinions that will shape the future generation of workers, employers and leaders in the province. The vision of B.C. Youth Week is also aligned with our commitment to empowering youth to have a voice and to speak up for their rights and responsibilities, in the workplace and also more holistically. Robin Schooley, WorkSafeBC

Having grown up in Whalley in the 1990s, I yearned for activities outside of school. A concert, a dance, a sporting event, and art workshop. Something that was affordable, close to home, and that I could attend with my best friend who lived across the street but went to a different school. As an adult, I have used my online presence to not only extensively promote my hometown community, but also all of the wonderful events and programming available for youth today. BC Youth Week provides affordable programming that's not only fun, but it gives youth opportunities to explore their interests, develop and show off their skills. It also supports amazing events outside of the big metropolitan cores, to reach youth all across the province and give them the same opportunities. Rebecca Bollwitt, Miss604
